History

In 1993, a group of international insurance professionals with a strong commitment to high quality products and excellent customer service formed Specialty Risk International, Inc. (SRI) offering medical insurance to travelers worldwide. In January 2007, SRI strategically changed its name to Seven Corners, Inc. to better describe the company's expansive service offerings, expertise, capabilities and deep-seated connections to the global community.

In its initial service offering, Seven Corners specialized in the general administration of travel medical insurance programs. Our capabilities grew to include 24-hour worldwide assistance services and claims processing. In addition to trip cancellation and travel medical insurance, we are a full-managing general underwriter for nearly every area of the insurance industry. We also offer benefit management and health care administration.
